Andrew H. Stamp has joined VF Law's land use practice in the firm's Oregon office. He has more than 25 years of experience navigating Oregon's complex land use planning program. Stamp focuses on zoning and development law, exactions, transportation and access management, drainage and flood damage law, and associated environmental and administrative law issues. He represents developers and landowners seeking a wide range of land use entitlements from local governments. His extensive experience provides sound strategies for clients seeking to develop their land. Before beginning his legal career, Stamp served six years as an officer in the United States Army.
